Loose text before any element starts the body, as in a browser.

Implied html and body

The parser creates the html, head and body elements that this document leaves out, so the style on html paints the page and body selectors match.

Paragraphs close each other without end tags,

- list items do too
- like this and a table gets its tbody and its cells